

VIRTUAL
BOOK
DISCUSSION

Teaching the Eighteenth Century Now: Pedagogy as Ethical Engagement

Edited by Kate Parker & Miram L. Wallace

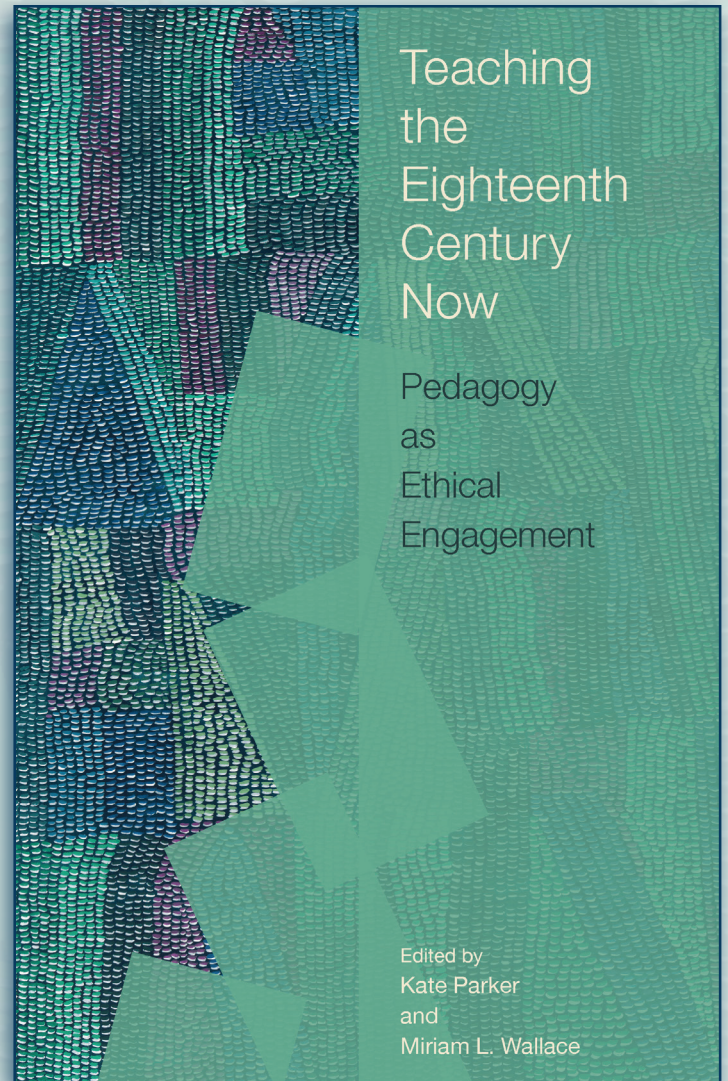

What does teaching mean in this historical moment?

Join Bucknell University Press as we host editors and contributors to the collection Teaching the Eighteenth Century Now: Pedagogy as Ethical Engagement for a moderated discussion about teaching Enlightenment topics during a period of attacks on education, identity, and expression. How can our pedagogies be more meaningful, more impactful, and more relevant? Participants will discuss the intellectual labor of the classroom and share contemporary models and approaches to animating material for today's students.

Wednesday, Feb. 26
3 p.m. on Zoom

EASTERN TIME (US AND CANADA)

Moderated by Eugenia Zuroski,
McMaster University

REGISTER IN ADVANCE

SCAN THIS CODE or visit:
[bucknell.zoom.us/webinar/register/
WN_HDjdnr7SPu_5609vujwkQ](https://bucknell.zoom.us/webinar/register/WN_HDjdnr7SPu_5609vujwkQ) to register in advance.

BUCKNELL
UNIVERSITY PRESS